The fire department was yesterday busy flushing out sewers.

Bricks for sale in large or small lots by J. A. Weaver, 815 Seventh avenue.

J. E. Ratekin, the grocer on Main street, has been enlarging his store.

Go and see the display of pictures at 502 Broadway, Friday evening.

"X Y Z" art museum.

Two car loads of iron for the new jail are on the way, and expected to arrive daily.

The fire department is making great preparations for appearing at their best on decoration day.

A number of the cellars of the business blocks of Glenwood were badly flooded by the rain of yesterday.

In the district court yesterday the time was mostly taken up in the trial of the case of Lelaire vs. Galusha.

Leonard, the barber at No. 146 Broadway, has added some improvements to his shop, one being another chair.

The Bluff city band has offered its services to Abe Lincoln post, grand army of the republic for decoration day.

Justice Schurz yesterday performed the ceremony which made one of Arnold Schafer and Lucy Pickel, both of Shelby county.

Keller is offering great bargains at his merchant tailoring establishment, No. 310 Broadway. See his goods and get his prices.

The X Y Z society will serve supper for everybody Friday evening at 502 Broadway. Admission 25 cents, supper free, served from 6 to 10.

Two of the prisoners who lately broke jail in Harrison county have been captured, and passed through here yesterday for their old jail home.

The Rev. H. Krueger has arranged to preach in the bible alone church on the evenings of the first and third Sundays of each month at 8 o'clock.

Henry J. Volght will shortly put his cigar business into one of the new stores on Main street, corner of Story, which was lately erected by John Mergen.

In the district court yesterday the divorce case of Andrew Hill vs. Anne Hill was heard, and submitted, the claim of the plaintiff being that he had been deserted.

The track was yesterday in such a muddy condition as to render it impossible to carry out the programme, and another postponement was taken to this afternoon.

The only difference thus far seen here on account of the prohibition law is that the saloon men, instead of paying license money into the city treasury, are paying it into the pockets of the attorneys.

There has been much talk about the sewers being all filled up, but the examination yesterday showed that they were not in bad condition, and now they are flushed out so that they are as clean as can be.

George Holmes, of the Plattsmouth live stock company, yesterday took another drove of colts to Plattsmouth, Neb., which were bought of Messrs. Slenator & Bowley, of Kiel's barn, this city.

Mrs. E. J. Balcar, of San Francisco, a hair and scalp doctor, is in the city, and stopping with relatives. She will next week open her office at 34 North Seventh street, near Mynster, in the former residence of James Smith.

L. Weinstein, of Burlington; Governor C. C. Carpenter, of Fort Dodge, and the Hon. B. F. Clayton, of Macedonia, the board of trustees of the institution for the deaf and dumb, are in the city, looking over the affairs of the institution.

Last evening Grace Hawthorne appeared at the opera house in "Queen," and this evening she will appear in "Miss Mullen." To-morrow afternoon and evening "Queen" will be presented again.

R. C. Lange having received the appointment of deputy revenue collector at this place, the great rush of the democratic candidates will now be centered on the position of constable, left vacant by the death of the veteran officer Jack White.

To-morrow will be a lively one for this city. Besides the other doings of the day John Robinson's great circus is to be here, and there will be a rush for the attractions gathered under his canvas which are said to exceed any offered in this line of amusement this season.

Next Tuesday evening there will be a meeting at the board of trade rooms to take action in regard to giving a reception to the Iowa editors who gather here on the 9th of June, and who will start from here on their great western excursion.

The funeral of Mrs. C. C. Cook was held yesterday morning from the family residence, No. 731 First avenue, and was attended by a large number of friends. The services were conducted by the Rev. McKay, assisted by the Rev. Mr. Bates, of the Presbyterian church. The casket in which the remains were placed was an elegant one, made of red cedar and covered with black broadcloth, silk lined and satin draped, with textile trimmings. The floral tributes were numerous and beautiful.

Dr. Palmer left Sunday morning for Council Bluffs, where he will remain several weeks. He is certainly a peculiar man, and while street selling of goods generally indicates the end, the sudden cures the doctor made here, notably in the Frank Fisher case, indicate that he understands his business pretty thoroughly. He is a genial gentleman, anyway.—Atlantic Democrat.

The clerk of the courts, J. J. Shea, got rattled in one of his duties yesterday, making much merriment for the lookers-on. A good old Quaker lady was called on as a witness, and naturally she objected to taking the oath, as she did not believe in swearing by anything, either in the heaven above or the earth beneath, and so the judge directed that she should "affirm." The clerk had not had any occasion to handle such a witness, so when he went at the form of affirmation his tongue got back into the old ruts, and after starting out with "You do solemnly affirm that you will tell the truth," etc., he wound up by adding, "so help you God." The old lady did not discover the mistake, so with all her scruples she really took the oath.

The Honored Dead.

By request of the committee the Buz presents the complete and corrected list of the soldiers whose graves are in this county, and who will be specially remembered to-morrow:

In Fairview cemetery—Chris Weirich, Alexander Shoemaker, Dr. W. H. Osborn, Joseph Wheeler, A. B. McKune, J. W. Phillips, Valentine Fleak, William Knox, Prof. Masie, Louis Henn, William Springer, D. Police Pointers.

In the police court yesterday a young man giving his name as J. T. Solon, but who was not wise enough to know the honesty is the best policy, was before the bar on a charge of stealing a kit of fish from the Wabash depot. He pleaded guilty and was sent to jail for five days.

J. Fredericks, the colored man who was arrested for assaulting another African named Beacham with a razor, was sent to jail for a few days. He insisted that he was afraid of Beacham, and begged the court to grant him an injunction against him. This injunction business seems to be catching among all classes.

The frail little lady who gave her name as Minnie Davis, but who is better known as Eva Lamont, was yesterday fined for being drunk, and the marshal took her trunk for security.

Jo Hoffman was yesterday fined for a plain drunk, getting off easy, considering the way he was conducting himself toward ladies on the streets.

Four mellow fellows, claiming to be from Malvern, were yesterday arrested for fighting on Broadway. They gave their names as John J. Moloney, Morris Duncan, N. Jensen, and George Fieldhouse. They seemed to be well provided with means to continue their spree, had not the police interfered, the quartette assaying over $200.

PERSONAL.

Lieutenant Governor Manning is the chosen orator for Cedar Rapids on Decoration Day.

J. C. Keegan, the Des Moines paving contractor, was in the city again yesterday.

Mr. Steadman, of the Nonpareil, goes to Misuri Valley to deliver the Decoration Day oration.

Ernest Brock is expected to arrive home to-night from one of his missionary trips for Perego & Moore.

Joseph Donahoe and a party of friends passed east over the "Q" yesterday morning in the directors' car.

J. R. Hardy, general superintendent of the Kansas City & St. Joseph & Council Bluffs, was in the city yesterday.

Frank Finley Harle, of Saint Joe, a grandson of City Auditor Burke, is in the city, visiting his relatives and friends.

E. S. Ettenheimer, a capitalist from Rochester, N. Y., is at the Pacific house, and today starts on a tour farther west.

Mrs. McLean, whose husband is agent for Wells, Fargo & Co., at the transfer, has gone to Burlington on a visit to friends there.

John C. Lush, who ably represents the Philadelphia shoe manufacturing company, was in the city yesterday looking after the interests of the trade.

Harry Bickelbino, engineer of the water works company, left last evening over the Milwaukee & Saint Paul for the east, to visit his old Philadelphia home, and other points in the east.

BUSY BURGLARS.

A Heavy Haul Made From James & Haverstock's General Store.

Other Places Entered.

It has been noticeable lately that every rainy night is improved by burglars, a gang of whom seem to be hanging about the city waiting for every favorable chance to plunder, without much apparent choice as to what kind of plunder they get. Night before last was no exception, and several places were entered and nothing known of it until the opening of business yesterday morning. The most important haul made was at James & Haverstock's store, corner of Main and Willow avenue. There an entrance was obtained by means of a chisel, which was used in prying open the front door. The fellows were evidently judges of goods, and did their selecting leisurely, for among the pieces they only took the best, leaving the cheaper kinds. They took a large number of sensors and shears, silk handkerchiefs, pocket books, jewelry, and neckwear, and it is thought that they packed these goods into a large grip sack. They opened all the cash drawers but got only a little change. The whole amount of goods taken is estimated at $200. There was a light left burning in the store, as usual, and any passer-by could easily have discovered the burglars at work, as the store fronts on both Main and Post streets.

Connor's saloon on lower Main street, was also visited, and an entrance was evidently gained there also by use of a chisel. There was little taken, some cigars and a little change being all that was missed by the proprietor.

Mullen's saloon, on Broadway, was also burglarized. The front door was found unlocked yesterday morning, and whether the proprietor forgot to lock up the night before, or whether the fellows had a key, is a matter of doubt. Some cigars and a little money were taken. The police seem to be able to get no clue to the thieves, and the plunder by this time is doubtless far beyond their reach.

Wanted—First-class steak baker at Smith & Loerke's, 533 Main street, Council Bluffs.

Cesspools and vaults cleaned. Address, R. & K., Bee office.

Decoration Day.

To the ladies of Council Bluffs and vicinity: I am requested by the committee of arrangements of the grand army of the republic to urge that all persons having flowers they are willing to contribute for decoration day, will please send the same to the storeroom recently occupied by Mr. James Porterfield, No. 411 Broadway by noon of Friday the 29th inst. It is earnestly hoped the donations will be generous, that at least one wreath and bouquet may be made for each soldier's grave. It is also requested that the ladies of the committee, and all others who can, will assist on the afternoon of Friday and the morning of Saturday in arranging the flowers.

Mrs. WILLIAM F. LAFF, Chairman Committee on Decoration.

Cubs at George Heaton's, 628 Broadway.

"Lone Wolf"

Dr. J. Palmer, who is known as "Lone Wolf," and who for over twenty years was medicine man for the Cherokee tribe of Indians, is stopping at the Scott house. He claims to be the only Indian medicine man traveling, who uses nothing in his treatment but roots, herbs, bark, flowers, grasses and balsams, nature's own remedy. The doctor will remain here about a week. His lectures on the street corner each evening draw great crowds, and he seems to be doing a wonderfully successful business.

N. J. Bond and F. W. Armistead have dissolved partnership. Mr. Armistead buying out his partner's interest will continue in the grain business alone. Mr. Bond goes to Nebraska to look up a new location.

Substantial abstracts of titles and real estate loans, J. W. & E. L. Squire, 101 Pearl street.
